

What Gaslighting Does to Your Brain

Reclaiming Your God-Given Perception

"He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds." — Psalm 147:3

KEY CONCEPTS

1 Gaslighting rewires your self-trust

Repeated gaslighting literally changes how your brain processes reality. You learn to check your perceptions against the gaslighter instead of your own experience. Over time, you outsource your sense of reality to someone who was lying to you.

2 Your body always knew

Even when your mind was confused, your body was sending signals — tight stomach, held breath, clenched jaw. Your body kept the score when your mind was too confused to know what to believe. That's not weakness. That's wisdom you were taught to ignore.

3 Reclaiming discernment is spiritual

God placed a sense of truth within you — your gut, your intuition, your conscience. Gaslighting is an attack on that God-given discernment. Healing is reclaiming it. Psalm 147 says He heals the brokenhearted — and that includes a broken sense of reality.

THIS WEEK'S PRACTICE

The Reality Receipt: Write one thing that happened that you've doubted or minimised. Write it plainly: 'This happened. I know it happened because...' Then say aloud: 'My perception is trustworthy.'

YOUR REFLECTION

'My reality is real. My perception is trustworthy. God placed discernment in me and I am learning to trust it again.'
